

Educational Publishers

Working closely with publishers, editors, and authors, we develop maps that deliver tailored educational content to every student level — elementary, high school, and post secondary. Our award-winning custom designs coordinate with and enhance the look of any book, website, mobile application, or interactive module.

SERVICES

- Custom static and interactive mapping content for all media (print, web, video, and mobile)
- Research, compilation and editorial services
- Program planning for large projects to ensure best use of budgets
- New media planning to ensure flexible map and graphic file format deliveries
- Source map acquisition
- Ancillary product development and authoring
- Graphic illustrations and animations
- Language translation capabilities

"International Mapping has successfully worked on several of our larger Higher Education map programs. These maps are very complex and specifically developed and customized for our demanding authors. I know I can depend on their creative team to deliver accurate, beautifully rendered maps on a tight schedule and at a fair cost."
